ST. SPANISH TRAIL NOTES.

Nothing but the greatest success that has developed in the history of the trail. The Echo here states that the rules of that contest. A careful reading of them will help in the enjoying of that great winter indoor game.

Players and Scoring.
Each team consists of five men. The ball is passed from one to another with the object of putting it in the team's basket. The players are two forwards, two guards and a center. Any man may score by throwing the ball into the basket. Every time the ball is thrown from the field two points are scored. Whenever a player commits a foul the other team is given the chance for a free, unguarded shot at basket. This is called a foul shot and scores one point.

Time and Winner.
The duration of a game is twenty minutes for each half with ten minutes rest between halves. The team having the highest number of points at the end of second half is the winner. In case of a tie, play is resumed for 5 minutes longer. If a tie still results 5 minute periods are played till one side is ahead.

Fouls.
Fouls are divided into two classes—personal and technical. A technical foul is committed whenever a player runs with the ball, or advances more than two steps with it in any direction except in case where he bounces it with one hand only. This bouncing and advancing is known as a dribble. An illegal dribble is where the player uses two hands simultaneously more than once. Another technical foul is when a player jumping at center or for a held ball fails to keep one hand behind his back till he jump is completed.

Personal Fouls.
A player is guilty of a personal foul whenever he holds, pushes, blocks or trips his opponent. The referee must indicate the nature of a foul (whether personal or technical) by holding up one hand when a personal foul is called or by holding up his own arm above his head. When a player has committed four personal fouls he must be removed from the game. A personal foul is not always intended roughness. A player may cause his opponent to commit a personal foul by stopping suddenly or by turning quickly whenever closely guarded. A deliberate personal foul is evidently intended to hurt a player justifies the referee in removing a man from the game at once.

Out of Bounds.
When the ball goes out of bounds it is given to a member of the other team. If the referee is in doubt as to which team touched it last in its flight to out of bounds, he may make a jump shot near the line. The boundary line is where it is marked. If a player touches the boundary line with any part of his body while he is in possession of the ball it is out of bounds. The ball need not be out at all. A man awarded the throw in from out of bounds is permitted a free throw. An opponent may stand near the line to intercept the ball when it comes in, but is guilty of a technical foul if he guards over the lines.

Size of Field and Goals.
The field must have a minimum floor space of 2100 square feet and a maximum of 4500 square feet. The college floor has 3200 square feet. This is the best size for a good game. The goal board must be three feet by six and free from obstructions. The goal must have an inside diameter of eighteen inches. The foul line must be painted sixteen feet from the foot of the goal post.

Playing.
A good team is one that can keep possession of the ball and put it in the basket. The greater part of practice work in the game is devoted to passing. A team whose members can receive the ball and pass it successfully from one player to another, they have a chance at the basket and who have a few good shots will generally beat a team trained to good shooting but with poor passwork. If a player cannot find his man quick enough to pass the ball with him and this is called a "held ball." The referee must then toss the ball between the men. It cannot be touched till it is at its highest point.

Referee.
The referee must be quick in his judgments and fast enough to follow the ball all over the floor. The Bay has had the advantage all this season, and last, of seeing the best referee in the South in action. Mr. Ed. Watts of Gulfport, is recognized as the most competent basketball official in the vicinity. No team playing here has ever had reasons to question any of his decisions.

College Notes.
A case of smallpox developed last Sunday night at the College. The victim, Paul Math, of New Orleans, was probably exposed during the Christmas holidays. When he returned to the College he became sick and went to the infirmary at once. The next day he was isolated as the doctors thought he was suffering from measles. It was only Sunday when the first indications of smallpox showed themselves. Though the isolation was pronounced perfectly by both the City and the County Boards of Health, the College authorities thought it wiser to isolate the college at once. This is the safest way to prevent the possible spread of the epidemic. Notice was given to all the College students to isolate themselves as soon as they became sick. ## The Kitchen Cabinet

(By 1920. Western Newspaper Union.)

As Summer's handmaid, faring homeward late, set down her burden at the palace gate. Came Autumn, dallying along the road, snatched up the basket with its precious load. And, at a sudden whirr, about the land tossed gold and jewels with a reckless hand.

SANDWICHES.

The variety of bewildering sandwiches which are being brought to our notice are good and some of them are super-good. The three-honored ham sandwich, which you could bite, is not now the sandwich which is so popular. The ham sandwich of the day is thin and pink as to ham and the bread cut like a wafer and spread with the best of butter.

The open sandwiches, so-called because they are but one piece of bread, are especially attractive and may be cut in circles, diamonds, crescents or any form desired, then the filling placed on top and pretty little designs of olives, nuts and various vegetables and sweetenings decorate them.

Nuts make excellent sandwich fillers. English walnuts, or pecans, chopped not too fine and mixed with thick cream well salted are particularly good when made of entire wheat bread. Chopped nuts and chopped celery are well liked. Chopped blanched, salted almonds and a little cream to spread or blanched almonds chopped and mixed with cream and maple sugar, grated, makes a good sandwich.

Cold-boiled tongue makes very nice sandwich filling. Chop the tongue and a little sweet cream, melted butter and mustard. Stir until smooth and spread on white buttered bread.

For a sustaining sandwich, eggs make a good filling. Cook the eggs in the shell until hard, remove the yolks and mash them with creamed butter or salad dressing. If an onion, sandwich is made, use the whites finely chopped to garnish by putting a border of the chopped whites around the sandwich. For those whose digestion will stand for it, a fried egg sandwich is tasty. Cheese sandwiches are of the sustaining variety. They may be made in a variety of ways and with a variety of cheeses, so that each may have his favorite brand.

A thin slice of cheese placed between buttered bread is the simplest. Grated cheese mixed with cream and different seasonings is a little more dainty. For sweet sandwiches at afternoon teas, the open sandwich with jelly and nuts makes a good variety.

If you would know the flavor of a pie The juicy smell, the spice, the test. You must be patient till the dervy core is cool. Then bite a little deeper than the crust.

If you would know the flavor of a man God's mud-pie made of Eden's dew and dust. Be patient till love's fire hath warmed him through. And look a little deeper than the crust.

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS.
The following is another new way of serving chicken, which is worth while adding to one's recipes:

Chicken, Miesie.—Pass through a meat chopper one-quarter of a pound each of veal and chicken liver, two green peppers and two branches of parsley; add a teaspoonful of scraped onion and a teaspoonful of Worcester's sauce; mix thoroughly and use to stuff the chicken. Put to cook in a moderate oven so that the veal and pork will be cooked before the chicken is broiled enough for serving. Baste with hot salt pork fat every ten minutes and cook nearly two hours. Serve with sweet potatoes or rice.

Best Cake.—Beat three-quarters of a cupful of butter to a cream, gradually beat in one and one-quarter cupful of sugar, the beaten yolks of four eggs, half a cupful of cold water, two and one-half cupfuls of flour, sifted with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and, lastly, the whites of four eggs, beaten dry. Bake in two layers. Put the layers together with coffee filling and cover with maple frosting and nut meats.

Scalloped Chicken and Cornet.—Use the remnants of chicken from a roast or boiled fowl. Free the meat from the skin and bones. For each cupful of meat take one cupful of fresh corn pulp or of cornet and one of cream sauce. Mix the chicken with the sauce and a layer of the cornet. Cover with buttered crumbs and cook ten minutes, or until well heated through and the crumbs well browned.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is a Brisk Purgative With Calomel, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets that are Nausealess, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the new, nausealess calomel tablets called Calomel, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One Calomel on the tongue at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasant or otherwise. Next morning your cold will be gone. Your liver is now clean, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Druggists sell Calomel only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. You can't be over-cautiously refunded if you do not find them delicious. (Adv.)

THE HORSE'S MEMORY.

Horses have fine memories, just as elephants have good memories," said Daddy. "In fact so many, many animals have wonderful memories, and if we'll only study them and watch them and care for them we can learn which ones have."

"But I want to tell you a story this evening of the horse called Lady Ethel."

"She was a very fine horse indeed, and she could remember everything she had ever seen or heard or thought or tasted. I'm quite sure of that."

"For many and many a time she would have to turn in at a house where she hadn't been very well treated in the stable, and it was some time before her master knew that she hadn't been so well treated in these places."

"But he loved her and watched over her and found out all sorts of wonderful things about her, so that he became fonder and fonder of horses all the time and of his own particular horse, too, and more."

"One day, too, she wouldn't go past a place in a country road. She trembled and shook all over. And when she did go past she acted as though she felt something quite dreadful was going to happen."

"Her master asked the man who had owned her before why she had acted like that, and he explained that she had been in an accident near that very spot. It had all been his fault, too, and not the horse's, and luckily enough no one was killed."

"Lady Ethel hadn't wanted to drive on one day for she had heard the distant whistle of a train. It was a very fast train but her owner thought they could make the other side of the crossing in time."

"Well, the train came along at about 60 miles an hour and Lady Ethel had stopped just in time."

"When her master had tried to hurry her across she had started to go and then she had drawn back. But if she had gone across or if she had waited for him to pull her back to show that he didn't want to go across they would have been killed, for it had been too late to do either thing."

"So that when Lady Ethel passed that part of the road again, even though it was long, long afterwards, she trembled and shivered and would not go on until she was quite sure there was no train anywhere around."

"But the story that Lady Ethel's master told the other day was such a nice one that I must tell it to you."

"We want to hear it," said Nancy. "I think that was wonderful about remembering the place where they had almost had an accident before," said Nick.

"Yes," said daddy, "and, too, Lady Ethel had passed many railroad crossings since that time, but not until she had come across this very same one again did she do any more than act carefully."

"When she came to this one she remembered their narrow escape and trembled at the thought of it."

"But one time Lady Ethel's master took a long ride far out into the country away from where people lived."

"He felt quite poorly after he had ridden a long way, and all of a sudden he got quite better and tall."

"Lady Ethel had been him out of the road and at one side he was not taking the same road, would go flashing over him by mistake."

"And then she went back home, all the distance alone and noticed so that the people came out with her and found her master."

"He was quite ill after that, for he had been feeling poorly when he had started out on his ride, but if it hadn't been for Lady Ethel he wouldn't have had the chance to have been taken home and put back to bed and nursed back to health."

"He said he was grateful to all who helped him get well, but the one he was most grateful to of all was the faithful Lady Ethel."

"And every day while he was ill they led her under his window and she neighed happily after he had called out with as much strength as he could: 'Hello, my faithful, fine Lady Ethel!'"

As Virginia is the only girl in a large family she is naturally rather spoiled. One day when the child was particularly naughty her aunt, who was visiting, threatened to keep her in the closet. "If you puts me in that closet you'll be the most spoiled aunt in town," declared Virginia emphatically.

A Little Mixed.
"What is a widow?" asked the teacher of a Sunday school, the subject of the day's lesson being the widow of Simeon.

"There was silence until she nodded. 'Simeon lay on her left and said: 'I am a widow, I don't know what a widow is, don't you?' and then the teacher was speaking."

Now Is the Time to Build With Lumber
Your barn, stable, wagon shed, cow shed, feed house and in fact any storehouse needed on the farm.

One method consists of connecting plates, column caps and bases designed to take care of the engineering problems of each building, simplifying construction and reducing labor to the lowest cost. We work up erection charts for each building so that anyone can assemble and erect our buildings.

We will furnish lumber cut to size ready for erection by you, or if you desire to buy lumber from others and cut same yourself, we will furnish corner plates, column caps and bases with erection chart.

There is no good reason for delaying your building now as the price of lumber is low enough and delay until next year may cost you more money. Write us your ideas of the kind of building you need and we will offer suggestions free of cost to you. If after we thoroughly explain our proposition you should not want to buy what we offer to sell you, there will be no obligation on your part to pay us for information.

THIS BOOKKEEPER LOST OUT
Might Have Known That Request for Raise in Salary Would Not Give Boss Satisfaction.

A labor leader was defending strikes.
"How could men get better pay without striking for it?" he said to a New York reporter. "By asking for it, do you think?"

"I once knew a young bookkeeper who went to his boss and asked for a dollar raise. The boss flew into a terrible passion."

"But," faltered the bookkeeper, "there is nothing unreasonable, sir, in my request. Don't you remember promising me a raise after I'd been with you a year?"

"Yes," hissed the boss, "but don't you remember that I made this raise conditional on your giving me every satisfaction?"

"Oh, dear! Haven't I satisfied you, sir?" said the young bookkeeper, pitifully.

"Satisfied me?" yelled the boss, "do you think you are satisfying me when you ask me for a raise?"

Tree Has "Candy" Flowers
Indian Product That Rivals the "Gingerbread House" of the Remembered Fairy Tales.

We have all read the story of the "gingerbread house" in the fairy tales. Well, there is a family of trees in India that have "candy" flowers, or the next thing to it. These trees are known as the "Bassia" trees, and of the three important kinds, two have sugary flowers and the third is called the "Indian butter tree." The petals of the flowers are rich in sugar, and drop from the tree in the early morning. They are picked up by the women and children and are spread out on mats to dry in the sun. A single tree will furnish 800 pounds of flowers in a year. When fresh, the flowers are very sweet and taste much like figs. They are eaten fresh or cooked with rice, shredded coconut, or flour. The seeds of the butter tree are full of oil, and this oil is used to make a kind of butter, and also for soap and candles. Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Since the new ferry is soon to be completed, and the Spanish Trail highway almost assured of crossing the Bay of St. Louis here a Tourist Club should be under consideration by the city fathers. Our Honorable Mayor is a good promoter of "big things" for the city, and this suggestion is particularly called to his attention.

THE NEW YORK-NEW ORLEANS LIMITED

Solid Through Train

Best Time and Service

The New York-New Orleans Limited is a justly famous train, with a service incomparable and equipment unsurpassed. It runs straight through without change from the first seaport of the United States to the second, from the metropolis of the South to the metropolis of the Nation.

An all-steel, all-Pullman train, equipped with De Luxe Compartments, Observation Car, Club Car, Library and all other modern requisites for the comfort and convenience of its passengers. The New York-New Orleans Limited also affords the shortest schedule and the most convenient time of arrival and departure.

With a running time approximately 1 hour shorter than any other direct line, the N. Y. N. O. Ltd. is 2 hours and 55 minutes shorter than the fastest time possible on any indirect line. In addition to this substantial time-saving, the direct service saves passengers between New Orleans and New York all costs of extra-fare trains, added Pullman charges and somewhat higher railroad fares, which apply on indirect routes.

The advantages of this splendid through-train to people living along the Gulf Coast and at Mobile are immediately apparent, as the train stops at all the larger coast stations (Northbound for taking on passengers, Southbound for letting them off.) Complete information about the New York-New Orleans Limited, showing the convenience of its schedules North and Southbound, has been published in booklet form, a copy of which is yours for the asking.
